MESSAGE ARTICLE – JUNE 2018

Rabbi Shae J. Kane D.D.

With the recent increase in anti-Semitic activity worldwide, I thought it might be enlightening to read the article below by Judith Alter Kallman.

I am a child of the Holocaust, whose life was shattered when I was a toddler. It was shattered by a rock flying through the window of our dining room on a Friday night, right after my father blessed us, and my mother lit the Shabbat candles. I had five siblings, and I was the youngest.

My early life in the town of Piestany, a spa town in Czechoslovakia, was sheltered and wonderful. We were Orthodox and lived a quiet middle-class life in a quiet town, until the anti-Semitic propaganda began, and my older brothers would come home from school with bloodied noses, because the fascist bullies would jump them.

My father was bullied and harassed on the trains he had to ride for his business. Soon after that, things got worse, and we had to flee our home, living on false papers until we were caught. Four of us were in school when the Hlinka guards came and took my parents and two older siblings away. The Jewish Rescue Committee spirited us out of school and into hiding, but a few days later, as a 5-year-old holding my 10-year-old brother's hand, I watched from a distance when my parents and my brother and sister were shoved into a cattle train to Auschwitz. And then my own journey through the inferno began and was eased by the kindness of strangers, in Budapest, who adopted me and treated me like their own child.

And still, even in unoccupied Budapest, where you might expect some compassion from your peers, I was bullied in school by a classmate because I was new and didn't speak Hungarian. She turned out to be my own cousin. After more years of turmoil and education in England and Israel, I met my first husband and came to America, built a family and then learned how to cope as a widow with three children. I remarried, and you can say I am living happily ever after. But I also have a mission.

I read about the history of the Holocaust and realized that what happened to my family began years before the actual bullying and murders began. It began with words, with lies about the Jewish people, turning us into "other" and designed to make people be afraid of us and hate us. We were accused of everything from sexual perversions to controlling the world. Everywhere we went, we were afraid.

At my daughter's urging, I wrote my book, "A Candle in the Heart," about my experiences. I am using it to teach young people not to hate each other, to teach them about the dangers of bullies, of being aware of what truth is, of how they need to understand the past to prepare for a better future.

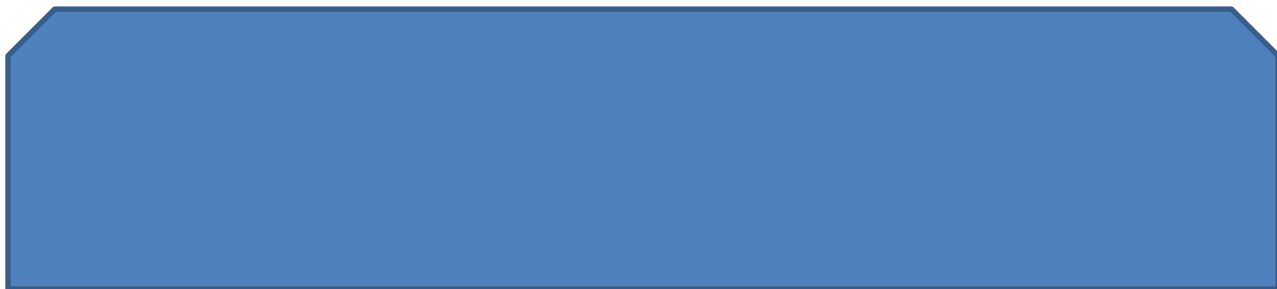

I often wondered whether those of us who teach about the Holocaust have an effect on the students, an effect that moves them to act in the face of evil. And then, in February, the shooting in Parkland, Fla., took place, and I learned, to my shock, that the lessons we teach do make a difference.

I did not know until weeks after the shooting that the first class targeted was the Holocaust education class, one the school had been teaching for 17 years. I learned that the shooter had swastikas etched on the magazines that fed his weapon. He was in that class. He was a bully with a gun who started by murdering two classmates, wounding six and then went on to kill 15 more people and wound many more.

I also know the students who came out of that classroom and began #Neveragain as a movement believe that they can convince voters to move politicians to guarantee safety in American classrooms. They believe it is the right thing to do. They are speaking out and calling attention to a situation that costs countless students their lives. As one student noted at their march in Washington, D.C., "I was in my Holocaust class learning about mass murder, and then I was in the middle of one."

Despite the adult bullies who have called them fakers, liars and traitors, despite the very real death threats they get, they continue to act on their beliefs. They don't advocate violence. They don't incite riots. They speak their truth to power, and no Holocaust survivor can ask for more than that from their "students."

Judith Alter Kallman, the author of the memoir "A Candle in the Heart," lives in Greenwich, CT.

President's Message June 2018

Hello All!

Madison has been a flurry of activity and positive energy. Our new event space "The Vue" is totally renovated, and it has been the setting for many recent simchas.

The Journal Dinner was a beautiful celebration honoring two deserving women, Harriet Cohen and Shelli Feldman. Everyone had a great time, and the event raised much needed money for Madison Jewish Center.

Our Annual Fashion Show, with close to 200 attendees, was a big success. The proceeds will help support our synagogue.

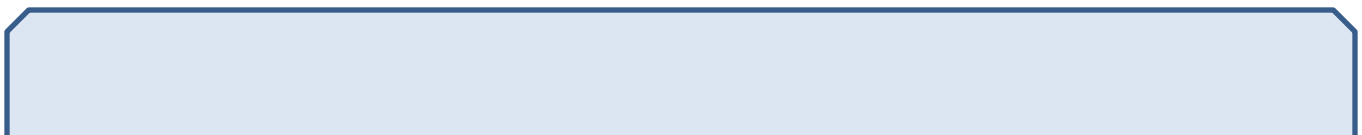

Beautiful new signage is now displayed on our building proudly identifying our synagogue as Madison Jewish Center. For all who love our culture and our congregation, the signage will enhance and confirm our commitment to stand firm in this space for many years to come.

Thank you to all who have facilitated and supported the many events at MJC. Our Friday Evening Shabbat Shaboom and Friday Night Speaker Series have resulted in increased attendance at services. These events have also encouraged attendees of all ages to participate in prayer and cultural activities in our shul.

Please note that over the summer Madison maintains minyanim at 6:45 AM on Mondays and Thursdays. Please join us. I know my schedule changes over the summer, and I am able to be at most minyanim during this time. On Friday evenings our services during July and August will begin one half hour later at 8:00 PM. Saturday Shabbat Services will be as usual. Lunch is not served in the summer months, but refreshing beverages will be served at our kiddush.

Please join us at our services and events. Madison is a welcoming place for all. You will be nurtured spiritually and socially. I look forward to greeting you soon.

Love, Barbara

Shalom Parents,

I cannot believe that the school year is already over.

Last month Ryan Dewitt had his Bar Mitzvah and he did a great job on his Haftarah. On behalf of the entire Parents Association I would like to wish Ryan and his family Mazal Tov.

June 1st will be our graduation/promotion ceremony at 7 P.M. This year we have a number of graduates and I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate them and their families: Daniel Allone, Megan Cohen, Ryan Dewitt, Max Hesse, Phillip Shapiro, and Samuel Streitch.

We thank you all for your support this school year and wish you all a great summer!

We are still selling gift cards, you can order online or pick up an order form in the office. Thanks again for your support.

MJC SOCIAL CLUB HAPPENINGS ----- JUNE 2018

Thank you to all the Social Club members for their continued dedication and hard work this year. Also, thank you to all the members, family, and friends that participated in our events and showed their generous support for MJC. Everyone helped make this a very successful year.

The Social Club Shabbat took place on Friday evening, May 11th. Many MJC members participated in the service. Thank you to those who came and showed their support for the Social Club. An elegant Oneg followed the service.

Our end of year barbecue will be held on Sunday, June 3rd at 3:00 PM. Our trip to the Spanish/Portuguese Synagogue is on Sunday, June 10th.

We have been busy planning the calendar for next year. Trips to Atlantic City, a painting and wine evening, our annual vodka and latke Hanukkah celebration, and the annual Social Club Shabbat service are just a few that have been discussed. Let us know if you have any ideas for future events.

Every member of MJC is also a member of the Social Club. Please take advantage of the many opportunities to spend time with friends. Let's keep MJC as the center of Egalitarian Conservative Judaism in this part of Brooklyn.

Check our website (madisonjc.org), watch for flyers, and check the Message for further information. Reservations for all activities can be made through our email address (info@madisonjc.org).

Have a great summer!

Ilene Karpas

THE LATEST FROM SISTERHOOD JUNE 2018

On Thursday night May 17th Sisterhood held their annual Fashion Show at MJC, “A Sparkling Evening of Fashion, Glitz and Glamour.” We enjoyed a delicious dinner catered by The Vue, with music, raffles and models. It was a perfect event. Many thanks to Barbara Stein for chairing this event and to Irene Cimini, Bonnie Solomon and the entire committee for their hard work and dedication. The Fashion Show brings in significant funds to Madison and in addition, is a program that so many in the congregation and community look forward to attending and enjoying.

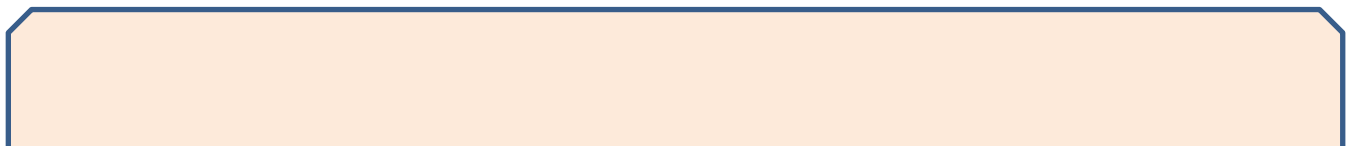

The end year Sisterhood dinner will be held on Monday, June 18th at Savor restaurant at 7 pm. Cost is $42 per person. Please contact Marlene or Teresa to make reservations, indicating your dinner and dessert requests. Remember, reservations are a must! It is always a pleasant and fun evening out with the opportunity to chat with your fellow Sisterhood members and reminisce about the past year.

On Tuesday June 19th Sisterhood is partnering with Hadassah Brooklyn Region Associates to go to MCU Park on Jewish Heritage Night. Cost is $25 pp. Please contact either Shelli or Sheila for questions. Hope to see many of you that evening.

There will be meetings during the summer months to plan for the forthcoming year. Our summer board meetings are tentatively scheduled for Monday July 16th and Monday August 20th at Madison.

We wish everyone a safe and wonderful summer!
