MESSAGE ARTICLE – NOVEMBER 2018Rabbi Shae J. Kane D.D.

There are different ways to say thank you in every language. That is why, when we travel, if we are wise, thank you is typically one of the very first phrases we strive to learn. It's that important. We instinctively understand that expressing gratitude will warm people's hearts. When others know that we appreciate their efforts, they are much more inclined to help us. It's the same reason why we emphasize, "Say thank you" to our children. We want them to understand that we can't take for granted anything that others do for us. In fact, we can't take anything for granted.

The morning prayer "Modeh/Modah [f.] ani- I am thankful," has been the first spoken words of the day on the lips of Jews for centuries. Gratitude is essential to our spiritual well-being. The word Jew itself – comes from the Hebrew Y'hudah – and has the same Hebrew root as the word todah -thankful. We are the people of thankfulness. Gratitude is the foundation of our religious life. In America we have a whole holiday, which we celebrate this month of November, focusing on expressing appreciation- Thanksgiving. As Jews, we know that EVERY day is Thanksgiving.

Giving thanks and expressing gratitude is as important to our spiritual well-being as water is to our physical well-being. We live in an incredibly fast paced and consumer-oriented culture. Both characteristics stand in the way of cultivating gratitude. We often move through our days, through our weeks, through our lives, in such a hurry, that we fail to appreciate the extraordinary blessings in our lives. Our culture conspires to inculcate dissatisfaction. We enjoy overwhelming material comforts unlike any of our ancestors, and yet we want more and more. Since most of us never have enough, we never have the newest and we never have the best, we are in constant pursuit of them and don't take time to appreciate and enjoy what we have. We feel deprived in the midst of bounty and grow bitter and consumed with the desire to have more. Cultivating gratitude is the antidote to this spiritual depression.

Every day should be Thanksgiving, and in the Jewish world, every day is Thanksgiving. Our goal is to find opportunities, every day - not just one day a year, to stop and notice the blessings we enjoy and say thank you. Living with gratitude elevates our entire life. It guides us into becoming a more joyful person. We then become a kinder and more compassionate person. And we can become a person who lives in greater harmony with others. All of this comes from giving THANKS!

Let this Thanksgiving Holiday be a reminder and an encouragement to us as Y'hudim - the appreciative ones, that counting our blessings is our foundational spiritual path, and one that will bring us strength and a sense of holiness through all the joys and challenges of our lives.

To: Our Madison Family,

In deep appreciation for all your warm wishes and prayers during our recent hospital stay. It is such a comfort to know that we are cared about by so many wonderful people. And a special shout out to Ellen Green for running over to the shul late Friday afternoon to accept the florist delivery!

Love,
Rabbi & Arlene

President's Message November 2018

Shalom Everyone!

I hope that this issue of The Message finds you and yours happy and healthy. No matter what your life circumstances are, participating at Madison Jewish Center's many spiritual and social activities will perk up your spirits. Speak to people who are active participants, and I'm sure they will be singing the same tune.

Madison has been filled with numerous programs since the High Holy days that inspired and entertained. Our Friday Night Programs have been thought provoking, with our most recent speaker, our own historian Paul Podell, discussing MJC's wonderful past. Other engaging programs for future Friday evenings are already planned. We also had a traditional delicious Shabbat meal catered by The Vue in our beautiful event space. It was followed by an inspiring service led by the ladies of Sisterhood. They also hosted an enjoyable Craft Night where all participants found their hidden artistic talent by creating beautiful scarves and ties. The Rabbi has been leading Adult Education classes about Judaism. Many enjoyed Social Club's annual Atlantic City bus trip and are looking forward to our Night of Comedy on November 11th. Please reserve your tickets if you haven't already.

I am counting my many blessings for being a part of the Madison Jewish Center family. Together, we are a close-knit community which comes together to share life events, and spiritual and social moments. Please join us. The efforts of all who facilitate our events are most appreciated. Without you, we could not have the many activities that we offer. Looking forward to seeing you soon.

Love, Barbara

Shalom Parents,

Wow, we are once again celebrating Thanksgiving. The school year is flying by.

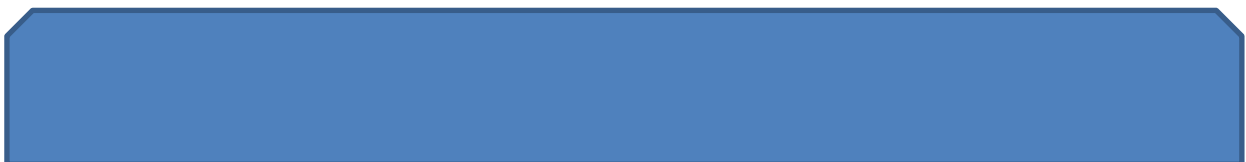

Last month was Sukkot and the students, under the direction of Rabbi and Mrs. Kane and the Hebrew School teachers, made lovely decorations for our Sukkah. Those of you who attended services during the holiday were able to see the paper chains and artistic works before the rains came.

We are looking forward to the community Hanukkiyah lighting in the MJC triangle on Sunday, December 2nd at 5:00pm. PA always supplies donuts and cocoa (and tea) for all who attend, following the lighting and Hanukkah singing. We are in the process of planning a Tzivos Hashem workshop for later in the school year and will keep you posted as to when and which workshop it will be.

We are still selling gift cards online or you can pick up an order form in the office, whichever is easier for you! These gift cards can make your Hanukkah gift giving much simpler.

Thanks again for all your support, we really appreciate it. Finally, we wish you all a happy and healthy Thanksgiving!

MJC SOCIAL CLUB HAPPENINGS ----- NOVEMBER 2018

Our annual trip to Atlantic City was on Sunday, October 14th. The day began with breakfast in the shul and then continued with Bingo on the bus. This was followed by a full day of gambling, shopping or walking on the Boardwalk. It ended with a relaxing bus ride home. Everyone had a great time.

Comedy night is scheduled for Sunday, November 11th. Gary Keshneri, a professional comedian, has already been booked for the evening. It promises to be an entertaining and fun time for all. The cost is only $25. Time is running out so make your reservations as soon as possible.

Many additional activities are already being discussed and planned for this year. Our annual Vodka and Latka Hanukkah celebration in conjunction with Sisterhood is scheduled for Saturday evening, December 1st. The Super Bowl party is on Sunday, February 1st, 2019 at an undetermined location. The Social Club Shabbat is on Friday evening, May 10th. An educational trip in the spring is also in the works. Please let us know if you have any additional thoughts or ideas for the future.

Every member of MJC is also a member of the Social Club. Please take advantage of the many opportunities to spend time with friends. Let's keep MJC as the center of Egalitarian Conservative Judaism in this part of Brooklyn. Check our website (madisonjc.org), watch for flyers, and check the Message for further information. Reservations for all activities can be made through our email address (info@madisonjc.org).

THE LATEST FROM SISTERHOOD NOVEMBER 2018

October was a very busy month for Sisterhood. Many thanks to Helen Liebowitz for the successful Oct 15th craft night where we learned how to design beautiful scarves and ties. On October 19th Sisterhood hosted the annual Sisterhood Shabbat dinner and service. Ellen Green served as the Rabbi, and Arlene Kane as the Cantor along with participation from many Sisterhood members. It was definitely an inspiring and spiritual evening. Thanks to Ilene Karpas for planning the program, and Ellen Green, Shelli Feldman and Teresa Gottesmann for organizing and arranging the dinner and, to all who helped throughout the evening. Many thanks to Allyson Stein for donating the desserts as well as paper goods, and to Barbara Stein for the beautiful flower centerpiece that provided a very beautiful and sweet ending to a fabulous event. Thanks to all who attended and supported the Annual Sisterhood Shabbat!

Sisterhood held the first Maj and Mingle game of the year on Sunday morning, October 28th at Ilene Marcus' house. Thank you Ilene for hosting this event, and Teresa for scheduling this program. If you are interested in joining us for Maj and Mingle, please check the website or contact Teresa Gottesmann.

This coming month is the annual book discussion led by Marlene Podell. She will review the book, Lilac Girls by Martha Hall Kelly followed by refreshments. A brief Sisterhood meeting will take place at 7 pm prior to the book discussion. This is always an interesting and interactive discussion, not to be missed. Please join us. Cost is only $5 pp.

We want to thank everyone who supported the Tree of Life project in the past and due to its overwhelming success, Sisterhood has decided to continue the program for the 2019 secular calendar year. We will be starting a new Tree of Life in January 2019. Flyers along with a letter of explanation are in the mail. Please note that your names and money must be in by December 10th for the January 2019 Message. The cost remains at $10 per name and there is no limit to the number of names you can put on a leaf. Names received after that date will be posted in the February bulletin and put in each month until the end of the secular calendar year. Once again, thank you for your ongoing support.

Save the date for the Annual Vodka and Latka dance on Dec 1st sponsored by Sisterhood and Social Club. The December meeting is scheduled for December 17th with program to be announced. The January movie night is scheduled for January 21st with movie to be announced and on February 25th we will celebrate Health month with line dancing led by Eva Hirsch.

We look forward to seeing many of you at our events. We would like to wish everyone a Happy Thanksgiving.
